O'Rourke's Diner Rebuilding Plans Move Forward

Plans continue to progress towards the reopening of O'Rourke's Diner. At press time, donations are approaching $150,000 toward the rebuilding effort. Planning has moved from the preliminary design phase to the design detail phase.

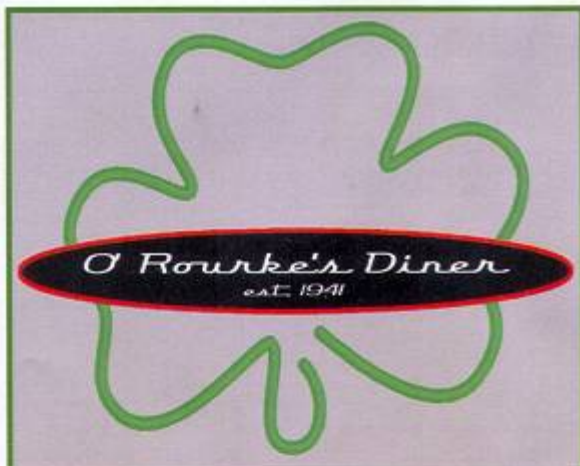

The familiar countertop and booths will return to the Diner. A number of changes include better designed kitchen space, a handicap accessible bathroom and more leg room in booths.

In the very near future, there will be a press release as to when construction will begin. Construction could commence as early as this spring. A target date of the late summer '07 has been set for the reopening of the Diner.

What makes this all possible are two key factors:

- 1) The generosity of O'Rourke's loyal customers.
- 2) The fact that the shell of the Diner has been salvaged.

Irish eyes are smiling!
